The Ceylon villagers, if they know what is good for them, should be a happy race—they have no use for monay. Nevertheless, they get into debt to the local capitalist, who supplies them with food, seed, oxen; and plows and helps himself from his debtor's threshing floor to the stipulated share of the produce. The blacksmiths and other artisans are similarly remunerated. Even the Orong claims a tithe of the paddy Crown claims a tithe of the paddy crop, and in some parts of the land, of other grain likewise. The people themselves have an idea that this obligation dates from the Hindu Shastras, but there is reason to be-lieve that it is comparatively modern. Subinfeudation, the curse of Bengal, hardly exists at all in this fortunate island, where personal service seems always to have been the ordinary tenure obligation. The joint family system, however, generally prevails, though each individual group is usually smaller than in India. It is distinguished more results and indial to the second services and the second services and the second services and the second services are services and the second services and the second services are services as a service services and services are services as a service services and services are services as a service services and services are services as a service services are services as a service service services and services are services as a service service service service services as a service service service services as a service service service services as a service service service service services are services as a service service service service services and services are services as a service service services and services are services as a service service service services and services are services as a service service services and services are services as a service service services are services as a service service services are services as a service services and services are services as a service service services and services are services as a service service services are services as a service service services and services are services as a service service service services are services as a service service services are services as a service service services are services as a service service service services are services as a service service s tinguished, moreover, by a disagreeable variety: "Two or possibly more brothers living under one roof will have one wife between them." It was a question which would hold hold out longest, an Arkansas negro murderer in his asseverance of innocence, or the Governor in his determination not to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life. The verdict had been found on circumstantial evidence, but was unde-niably just, On the other hand, the prisoner was solemn and un-haken in his protestations. On the day ap-pointed for the execution the Governor relented and signed a commuta-tion. At about the same hour, but not quite soon enough to interfere with his good luck, the negro con-fessed his guilt.

RAILROAD RUMORS

What Does Jay Gould Want With the de Central Bellway.

It appears, after all, that Jay Gould is the purchaser of the Battle Moun-tain and Austin Rairroad, as was reported several days ago, and after Wards contradicted.

New Yorkers as well as Californians are puzzled over the purchase of the Nevada Central Railway by Gould and Dillon. The road is less than one hundred miles in length, and railroad men, east and west, cannot surm se Gould's object in acquiring control of it. It is thought that it will be a link in a chain of roads which will connect Oregon and Texas. The San Francisco Report thinks Ne vada's railround system is going to ment of the country, and it is imposwealth it will open up and make available. Is Gould, who never makes mistakes, aware of the existence of this wealth; and determine to make its development possible by building a rairroad north and south through the Six effective and the Central Pacific Company intended to control the carrying trade of eastern and central Oregon by building a branch road from Winnemucca or its vacinity northwest. If such is the fact, it looks as if it were time for the company to act. There is no probacility of two roads being built in that direction from points fifty or sixty miles apart on the Central Pacific Railread, and if Gould has purchased the Nevada Central Railway with a view of extending it north to Oregou and south to Texas, the Central Pacific will have to move shortly or they will be distanced in the race. A road from this point northwest would open up an extensive mineral region yet indeveloped, and within two hundred mles strike what is said to be one of the most extensive forests on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada. This imbered region of itself ought to be officient inducement for building a rairroad in that direction to supply central and eastern Nevada and Utah with lumber. If Jay Gould has conit is tolerably certain that a road will e built worth from some point be-nucca within a few years. The Two Orphans. The largest audience ever seen in Reno as-embled at the Nevada Theatre last night, to see the Claxton combination. 'Carson's Idea

The Carson Tribune has set up lately as a judge of race horses and race tracks. Here is what it says of the running race at the Pioneer's Pionic. The next was a running race for saddle h rses. The Renoites rang in a racehorse"Ballot Box, Jr., "and won the race, although if the rules had been adhered to, he should have been distanced, his rider cutting through the sagebrush and taking the position Cuarley Hofer's horse, "Dice Box."

Reliable parties who were there, Friday, June 10th. say that there was no cutting through the sagebrursh. The GAZETTE agrees that it was very and when Reno "rang" in a race horse that could run a mile dash so fast as 2:01. Parkinson's dictionary and his treatise on turf matters are his best works.

4 Experiment in Freightage From 4t. Paul to Giasgow,

To-day begins an experiment which, if successful, will have an important bearing on the wheat trade of St. Louis and the West, it being nothing less than the shipment of a cargo of wheat direct to Glasgow, Scotland. James B. Buel, of the Foreign Dispatch, has received an order for barges to carry 30,000 bushels of wheat, and the barges will be shipped to-day. The shipment, if successful, will be followed by others. For several days negotiations have been going on beas have been going on benegotiations have been going on be-tween the St. Paul shippers and New York capitalists; but the New York men, though pleased with the rates, decline to take the risk of the ship-ment, saying that they were afraid of the climate. The St. Paul merchants put themselves in communica-with Glasgow and the sale was dat once. When grain is chipfreshing Fruit closed at once. When grain is chipped by this route trans-shipment at New Orleans is in charge of the Company's agents, Messrs. Forstall, Ross & Clayton, old ship brokers, who will see that no shipment goes forward without proper inspection. The very low rate of 28 cents a bushel through to Liverpool was made on the cargo. The safe arrival of the grain will in augurate an immense direct trade beof Pills and ngunte an immense direct trade be-then the grain center of the Upper including and the old world.—St. oute Republican, May 28th.

Dr. Pierce s Advice. From "Our Brother In Black."

The late venerable and eloquent Dr. chance, during a ministry of seventyfire years, to do the negroes good, was preaching on Christian Progress at a camp meeting. It was his manner to make astonishing climaxes now and then. On this occassion he laid down the law of life and death in Christian experience: "Brethren, you must grow or die. Progress you must make. If you can fly,fly; if you can't make. If you can't run, walk; if you fly, run; if you can't run, walk; if you can't walk, crawl."

His voice was rising to its full trumpet tones, and his eyes flashing as few types over flashed. His right hand was still high advanced. The con-gregation trembled for him. What ould he say more? But he was the of such a crisis. He would be equision with an explosion auder: "If you can't crawi—
